WE NOMINATE

The 25 officers and trustees of the four-year old Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association, Inc. (the only organization of its kind in New Jersey), who are attempting to meet head-on such primary area problems as drought, flood damage, soil erosion and the preservation of natural recreational resources. This past week, as "Princeton weather" ran the gamut from "watering restrictions" to flash-flood conditions in outlying sections, the Watersheds Association set forth a unique plan to conserve land and water in the 50-mile square Stony Brook watershed, a fast-growing area of 17,000 persons, which embraces large chunks of acreage in six different municipalities in Mercer County and neighboring Hunterdon County.

The non-profit Association's bold plan, that has won the approval of Federal, State and local-government officials, contemplates the construction of 13 earth dams across some of the 55 miles of tributaries, of 22-mile long Stony Brook. While limited Federal aid is a possibility, the "public works" venture would be essentially a cooperative undertaking involving county and municipal agencies, industry, institutions in the area, farmers and other interested individuals. The small dams, infinitely cheaper than concrete structures, would save hundreds of thousands of gallons of precious "run-off water" and would store upstream much of the top soil and sediment that in the past half-century has halved the water storage capacity of Carnegie Lake.

Formally organized in November, 1951, and entirely supported by funds contributed by some 400 members and sponsors, the Association represents a new, close-to-home approach to community conservation worries. It is based on the sound principle that persons living and working together—in spite of varying and at times conflicting interests—can see for themselves the crying need for protecting the invaluable assets of water, soil and forest and can therefore carry forward a unified program directed at the improvement of water supplies, enlightened land management (including the reforestation of idle land and safeguarding desirable wildlife), and long-range planning for rural developments.

The Association has been singularly effective as an advisory service and educational unit. Area residents may turn to it for advice and counsel about any phase of conservation, whether the problem involves a small plot or a 500-acre tract. By promoting group discussions, conferences, tours, talks and exhibits, its directors have called public attention to such dismaying conditions as soil erosion, which affects 85 per cent of the area and each year destroys upwards of 25 acres of fertile topsoil, and "water wastage," with enough water coursing down Stony Brook in a 24-hour period after a heavy rain to meet all the water needs of the whole area for a full year.

For refusing to stand by while their community's natural resources are wasted and abused; for bringing into being a characteristically American grass-roots organization devoted to the betterment of this area; for giving new meaning to the time-worn expression, "For Land's Sake;" these far-seeing citizens are Town Topics' nominees for Moppets on the Move. A recently-returned tourist from New England reports that among the lighter touches encountered on his journey was this small-village road sign:

"Slow, Please—Fast Children."

Clearview Gains a Delay. Clearview Associates, T. R. Potts' corporation which owns the Princeton Shopping Center, on Monday received two more weeks in which to prepare a "crystallized" final reorganization plan which will meet the huge center's problem of covering immediate indebtedness.

Somewhat unwillingly, Federal Judge Philip Forman conceded Clearview's points and allowed the additional time to prepare a definite scheme. He required however, that Clearview have definite written commitments of the needed capital "transfusion."

Emmanuel Weitz of Jersey City, representing Clearview, said that summer vacations had held up final action on the new capital investment, although three separate concerns had verbally "approved" the tentative reorganization plan.

The tentative scheme would call for a stock issue of a new class in the amount of $515,000, with the money assigned to the following purposes:

$350,000 to Travelers Insurance, the first mortgagee (holding a mortgage of more than $2 million); $50,000 to Property Credit Corporation (second mortgagee); $75,000 to discharge the claims

Radio for Ambulances

The two ambulances maintained by the First Aid Unit of Princeton Engine Co. No. 1 will shortly be equipped with two-way radio facilities. The short-wave sets will tie in with the transmitter used by borough and township police, which also serves part of the Princeton Fire Department's equipment.

All cost of such installation will be borne by the First Aid Unit, whose volunteers provide the entire Princeton area with round-the-clock ambulance service. Borough officials welcomed the move with predictions of improved service to the community in time of emergency.

of the general creditors group; $25,000 for administration and fees; $15,000 to reimburse Property Credit for fire insurance premiums.

Foreclosure a Possibility. Judge Forman actually asked that Mr. Potts have his reorganization plans in the hands of independent trustee Philip J. Albert by next Wednesday, August 24, so that Mr. Albert could submit his required report on the plan.

Barring a complete failure next week to present a reorganization plan, Clearview will not be under fire until the hearing September 12, when the creditors will express their opinions of the proposal.

Should Mr. Potts' capital not be forthcoming, however, Judge Forman will have to allow Property Credit to proceed with foreclosure action as of August 30.

The general creditors, which include the architects, builders, air-conditioners and other firms, have filed an involuntary petition in bankruptcy for the Shopping Center, a move which conflicts with Property Credit's foreclosure action.

Sought by Morris M. Ravin of Newark, attorney for the creditors' group, an appearance by Mr. Potts at a bankruptcy session next Wednesday was set aside, on the grounds that the developer is expected to be quite busy the day his new capital plans are required.

Rents Said to Be Unpaid. Atwood C. Wolf, Property Credit attorney, while unhappy over the two-week postponement, asserted that he had no wish to jeopardize Clearview's reorganization negotiations.

He still charged, however, that some stores have not paid rent previous to July, and that some rents, by corporations servicing the Center, had not been collected at all and were inaccurately listed as rental sources for Travelers Insurance, the first Mortgagee.

Property Credit has not only claimed that Clearview has defaulted on mortgage payments, but that the reorganization plan is being prepared in "bad faith" and that mismanagement exists at the Center.

The impression still remains, despite the lack of definite capital assurance on Monday, that Mr. Potts will be able to gain new financial support for the venture in which he has personally spent $750,000. Major trump on Mr. Potts' side is the huge Shopping Center building, which remains a considerable asset, regardless of immediate difficulties.—Continued on Page 2

Neglect Costs Far More Than a Bank Loan

Today it's more important than ever to safeguard your investment in your house with a home repair loan.

If a minor repair job is neglected, it may grow into a major one—and the expense grows proportionately.

If you're not sure whether some particular repair job justifies the expense, let us help you decide.

in paying off the current debts.
Mr. Wnif threatened, however, that Travelers Insurance may step in and declare the mortgage defaulted, an additional action which might cause enormous complications in the multi-million-dollar battle now being carried on.

Dreams Come True. It was a night for dreaming at Borough Hall Monday.

Item One: A group of Theological Seminary officials, headed by business manager George W.
Loos, Jr., realized their four-year dream of a modern library when months of deliberations on the zoning requirements for the $1,- 500,000 structure were climaxed by approval from the mayor and council.

Item Two: A group of Nassau Street property owners in the block between Vandeventer Avenue and Moore Street petitioned the governing body to aid them in planning off-street parking there. Still full of memories of the bitter battle the municipality's proposal for such a project had touched off two years ago, Mayor Sturges commented: "It sounds like a dream come true."

Item Three: These and other developments provided a greater-than-normal quota of news, still took a scant 40 minutes to unfold, thus fulfilling a dream for reporters who occasionally spend three to four hours covering a single municipal set-in in the Princeton community.

Green Light. It took less than five minutes to bring to conclusion a matter that had been deliberated here and in court in Trenton at various intervals for the better part of two years.

The climax came with a 5-0 vote (Councilman Richard Colman was absent) approving the recommendation of the Zoning Board that the Seminary's request be granted.

Only two requirements were set forth: space for the off-street parking of 59 cars must be provided, a figure well below the number normally required under borough regulations for a building of similar size; and the south wing of the existing Seminary Library (not Lenox Hall) must be torn down as soon as practical. Actually, that entire orange-red structure and Lenox Hall (see page 8) are marked for demolition.

In the final analysis, it was intentional omission on the Zoning Board's part of any mention of the much-publicized "easement of air and light" that was largely responsible for the governing body's approval. The issue had been purely technical from the beginning, but until the Zoning Board recommended approval of the library without asking the mayor and council to grant an easement, the issue had been wholly unresolved.

The governing body, required by court order to approve an easement on the Borough Hall grounds, left to the people of Princeton as a public trust, had taken the stand that it could not give away the rights of future generations of this community.
Once the issue was removed—by consent of the Zoning Board that it did not actually exist—the board's favorable stand on the matter in July and the council's action Monday night followed.

Help Wanted. Seven major property owners with Nassau Street footage in the block between Vandeventer and Moore have asked the borough's assistance in establishing off-street parking adjacent to their businesses. The various sites in question, while by no means fully determined, lie in the same area as one of the three lots which precipitated such violent debate
two years ago this summer, acrimony which spilled over into the November elections.

The suggestion was made that the borough join in a survey of the location and that a three-year lease be signed with 90-day cancellation clause. The property owners hope that the borough will assume responsibility for fencing, paving, metering and policing the lot once it is made available for off-street parking.

Mayor Sturges greeted the letter warmly, expressing definite pleasure over the fact that a number of property owners in the area now support the long-range outlook for increased parking facilities adopted by the municipality two years ago. Careful study of the plan for enlisting the borough's assistance will be made in the near future, he indicated.

The petition carried the signatures of Dr. B. B. Scassera, Dr.
J. Mercer Rampona, James A.
Cox, Harry Barberdies, Morris
Maple, Edmund D. Cook and Walter Jefferson for the Princeton Water Co.

Other Borough Action. During the brief but productive session, the council also:

- Expressed its sympathy to former mayor Minot C. Morgan, Jr. and his mother on the death of Dr. Morgan (see page 9.)
- Reappointed Harry W. Hazard of 36 Armour Road to the

It's New to Us

A Set... that will set you on your ear. That's the combination at Clayton's, designed to enhance a fall blouse or shirt. For $2.65, you may have a tie and earring set, the tie made of 3/4 inch ribbon in solids, plaids, infinitesimal checks, polka dots.

The earrings are round ones, covered with the same fabric that ties up the tie. There's even a point that has tiny fishing flies scooting around on it. The sets come in a very small round box to keep everything neat, and they are offered at 37 Palmer Square West.

Seamstresses, out with a needle for a fall wardrobe or sewing a back-to-school girl late an autumn wardrobe. Look at the new denims, 89c a yard, in twenty weaves, stripes, plaids and plaids. These tightly woven denims make excellent draperies, pillow and slip covers or bed-spreads for someone going back to school.

For $1 a yard, Clayton's offers Pampered Cottons that are solid and spot resistant. They arrive in provincial prints with solid colors that match, and the solids include high-fashion shades like avocado, petriwinkle blue and a shade of light brown that goes by the name "Caramel."

The stand-by Punjab percales that Clayton customers have used over the years, now appear at 59c a yard instead of the usual 69c. These are all fine prints, with solids in the standard shades. School-girls making dramatic skirts might look at some swirling fabrics that are most certainly not for the grade-school set. And plaids, if this is conceivable, are bigger than ever. They appear from every clan, (and some clans that come only from Brooklyn), and they are used not only in fabrics, but in every accessory you can buy (viz. the ties mentioned above).

Hammock Reading. At this time of the year, if you are a staunch Sears, Roebuck customer, you may stop at the store, 73 Palmer Square West, pick up your fall and winter catalogue and adjourn to the garden to buy snowsuits for the family. (If you are not on the Sears catalogue list, you may of course, examine the new catalogue in the store.)

Housewives doing their winter shopping may consider a Sears blanket, 100% Acrilan at $15.75. It washes easily, without shrinkage, dries fast, plays soft, is mothproof, non allergenic, and as a sort of by-product, will keep you vevy warm.

There is also a wool and nylon blanket with nylon binding that is said to wear 15 times longer than rayon. These blankets are $12.75 for the full size.

If you're building a house or remodeling a kitchen, look at the new Philiping mahogany sliding door cabinets that have a slant-front design for more storage space. In the unpainted furniture section there are many new designs for people who like to paint. Look at the triple drawer with 12 drawers, for example, at $32.95.

Young men in the family who wear sizes 12 to 22, will like the new sportswear in Sears' winter catalogue: brilliant red reversible jacket, for example, or a dark charcoal walking coat with exclud to light up the charcoal.

The smallest member of the family is provided with a baby shirt, designed not to bind, or ravel and to keep relatively dry through the use of water-repellent pin tapes.

There are 1412 pages in the new catalog, against 1226 in the spring one, so get out your pencil and order blank.

Scotland Again. Nothing could be simpler than writing about new fall fabrics and new fall clothing, because tartans and plaids are everywhere and the Scotch certainly aren't on the rocks this year.

At The Fabric Shop, 3 Chambers Street, Dan River has Wrinkled cottons in new fall plaids at $1.19 a yard. New corduroys, some already here, others expected in early fall shipments, feature plaids, too. There are also solids in corduroy, of course, and some high-style floral patterns.

Woolens at the shop are 50 to 60 inches wide, at $1.98 a yard, and they are mixed with nylon so that they can be washed. Tartans and plaids in wools, of course, with solids that match.

Fuel Plan Insured. The Princeton Fuel Oil Company has offered a unique service for the Princeton area to patron using its Budget Plan for insuring their payments in case of death.

The firm has taken out a group life policy with the Prudential Life Insurance Company for all its Budget Plan members. In case of death during the schedule of payments for a year's supply of fuel, the balance of the account will be met by the policy.

The service, which is offered at no cost to the patron, covers home-owners who are using even-ly-spaced payments to cover their fuel bills, rather than paying each month for that month's oil. Under terms of the plan, each month's fuel will still be delivered to the home after the death of the policy holder, at no cost to his estate.

ALMOST A HOT DOG: The inquisitive canine in this picture very nearly lost his life Saturday morning when he walked close to several high tension wires blown down by the storm on the Princeton-Kingston Road. Rain. The weekend's deluge, possibly only the prelude to Diane and succeeding hurricanes, wound up more a blessing than a curse. The rainfall in the 48-hour period of more than six inches provided more water than that of the preceding months of April through July.

Precipitation for the month, with more expected, is already nearly three times that of the normal August. The answer to the drought brought with it damage, however, and more than a little speculation about the report that the East Coast is due for a cycle of hurricane attacks.

The road to Princeton Junction was impassable for 24 hours during the storm period, and high

BUCKS COUNTY PLAYHOUSE

"A Palm Tree in a Rose Garden" continues through Saturday evening at the Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope. On Monday, "The Tender Trap", the Max Shulman-Robert P. Smith comedy, will open for a week. The show was performed in Princeton at the McCarter this winter by the national company at the start of its tour.

An outstanding cast will perform at New Hope under the direction of Robert Downing. The four leads will be taken by Peter Cookson, Frances Reid, Larry Storch and Judy Johnson. Mr. Cookson is most recently noted for his performance as the male lead in Cole Porter's "Can Can". He appeared as the fortune-hunting scoundrel Morris in the original production of "The Heir-ess".

Miss Reid will have one of her rare opportunities in a comic role as the wisecracking Sylvia in the romantic comedy. She performs often on Broadway and appears regularly at the Bucks Playhouse. Mr. Storch and Miss Johnson, both leading television players, will be making their legit debut in "The Tender Trap".

"Palm Tree" Pointed. "A Palm Tree in a Rose Garden" showed once again that television is helping perfect a group of dramatists with first-rate talent for dialogue and plot handling. The play doesn't answer, however, the more significant question of whether these writers include adequate thought and meaning in a play.

Mcade Roberts, a TV writer taking his first shot at full-length drama, sets out for two acts like a man with an acid Smith-Corona. His writing was good enough to make the audience gulp appreciatively at his satirical and ironic skill. (As a matter of fact, the play's laughs were rare enough, and worthwhile, to seem more like comic relief than comedy.)

Mr. Roberts is going after the Hollywood "worship fringe," in the rather common person of immature, sentimental, lonely, empty people living synthetic lives. He makes a shambles of Rose Furbisher, former beauty contest winner and devotee at the shrine of exterior beauty and success. And he does it exceptionally well.

Something strange happens to Mr. Robert's third act, however. Having ridiculed the false cliché existence, he turns around and uses a few clichéd twists to wind up his story. Possibly unfairly, this department attributes the unfortunate effect to a hangover from TV practices.

The traditional "superficial wrist slashing by skidsy film starlet" is trotted out to precipitate the crisis. Mother Furbisher, having been set up quickly for the "silver cord—don't leave me" immature parents situation, does a turn-about that smacks of two minutes before the commercial. This allows for the resolving marriage of the "different" daughter and understanding consort, also for a presumably happy ending to the comedy. Actually, the ending serves to betray what has gone before and lessen the impact of Mr. Jackson's excellent writing.

ROMANTIC HERO: Larry Storch will be seen as a fast living young man in the comedy "The Tender Trap" opening Monday at the Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope. Mr. Storch, a leading television performer, will be making his legit debut.

As for the current package production at Bucks County, a virtually faultless cast gives Mr. Jackson a remarkable starting advantage.

Dorothy Stickney plays Rose Furbisher with great skill and presence, although this department could not track down a feeling of unsureness about the performance, probably because the part is so antagonizing.

Betty Lou Holland shows herself a superb actress as the daughter, while Barbara Baxley as the aging "starlet" and Hilda Vaughn as the next-door room-letter were also outstanding. Alice Ghostley possibly benefited from memory of earlier comic performances so far as the impression received by this corner was concerned, but she played a well-wishing and somewhat wistful fellow border quite well.

George Voskovec was perfectly cast as the asthmatic, understanding Mr. Jonas, but Herbert Evers, perfectly skillful, did not convey a fading Hollywood star —Continued on Page 10 water hampered traffic on the Princeton-Kingston Road, Quaker Road and other thoroughfares.

High tension wires (see picture, page 4) fell on the Princeton-Kingston Road and Alexander Street, while numerous homes lost for short periods electrical and telephonic services.

Tree damage, always a costly aspect of storm damage here, included one split open on the grounds of Seminary President John A. Mackay's residence and a towering old copper beech on the site of the proposed new Speer Library.

No personal injuries resulting from the storm were reported, but Hurricane Connie provided an unwelcome introduction to the "hurricane season."

Chest Employee Plan Launched. The Community Chest has begun its effort to make more effective the solicitation of residents at their place of work by mailing a letter and registration form to more than 300 firms and institutions in the Princeton area.

Issued by Lawrence Benson, campaign chairman for this year, the letter points out that approximately 4,000 persons are employed here and that if all are listed, they may be removed from the residential and other lists.

The system of employee solicitation is generally accepted over the country as both time-saving and convenient for all concerned. It reduces the number of after-hour calls by the volunteer solicitation staff and the discouragement of many return trips to find people at home.

Woman Attacked at Night. A 26-year-old office worker from Princeton was the victim of an attack by an unidentified assailant on Monday night, Chief Smith of the Borough Police reported.

The young woman, whose name was not disclosed, had attended the late show of "Mr. Roberts" at the Playhouse and was walking home along Hamilton Avenue. The young man, whom she identified as white, medium build, with dark, curly hair and wearing a white shirt, stopped beside her in his light-cream

German Cars Here

The big Studebaker Plant built five years ago on U. S. 1 near New Brunswick by the Studebaker Corporation but never used now has a new owner. It will become an assembly point for the Volkswagen, the German-built "People's Car" operated by a rear engine.

The rapidly-expanding West German company will thus add its New Jersey site to assembly plants already located in Belgium, Brazil, Ireland and South Africa. It claims current use of some 23,000 of its cars by Americans and exports to this country at the rate of 2,500 a month.

colored car and offered her a ride.

After she refused, he drove to the end of the block, turned, and offered her a ride again. When she refused, he stopped the car, jumped out, and threw her down on the lawn of the Westminster Choir College, Chief Smith said.

As they struggled, the young lady, who is unmarried, screamed at a passing car, frightening her assailant. He first tried to choke her into silence, the police reported, but when she continued screaming, he climbed into his car and fled.

The young woman then continued to her apartment, where she found her room-mate, who took her to Princeton hospital. She was treated for bruises of the face and neck, and abrasions of the face, as well as shock before returning home.

Enter Donkey Baseball. The Princeton and Plainsboro Lions Clubs will play, or perform, donkey baseball next Tuesday at 6.30 on the Princeton High School Field. The zany ball game is played from the backs of trained donkeys.

Local riders will play from the backs of the "Buckeye Baseball Club," an organization of donkeys which has been in operation for 18 years, making it one of the oldest in the country.

Claiming a training diet of Mother's Oats and raw carrots, the Princeton Lions have announced a line-up of Paul Alford, Norton Jefferson, Arthur Yard, Lew Lewis, Harold Ostroff, William Kiefer, Richard Appleby, Joseph Catelli, William Schneeweiss, Robert McCarthy and Warren Froelich. Mr. Kiefer and Martin Mains are co-chairmen for the Princeton group.

Plainsboro will counter with a line-up of Thomas Sullivan, Leonard Bunko, John Ward, Joseph Wright, Henry Jeffers Jr., Harold Britton, Paul Heller, Saul Lapidus, Norman White, Chester Stein and John Bryan. Mr. Heller and Bruce Ferguson are the managers. The circus-like exhibition is being staged for the benefit of the community welfare work of both Lions Clubs. Tickets will be 75 cents for adults and 40 cents for children 5 to 12, with youngsters under five admitted free. Tickets will be available from any of the contestants.

Smaller Town. In contrast to many communities elsewhere in the nation, where upward population trends are greeted with resounding cheers, the Borough Council heard without regret this week that it has two less houses on the tax map than it did last month. Members of the governing body are not, actually, turning their backs on progress. It is merely a matter of facing the mathematical fact that no more than two-score vintage lots remain within the municipal boundaries and only a minority of them are likely to become building sites in the foreseeable future.

The net decrease of two stems from the fact that despite groundbreaking for nearly $750,000 worth of new construction, not a single new dwelling was started. The pair no longer in existence were two of the previously condemned veterans homes on Ewing Street.

Virtually entirely because of the major building program launched at St. Paul's Church, July construction was 15 times greater than a year ago. The 21 permits issued were worth $747,524, in sharp contrast to the 22 of July, 1954, which were valued at only $41,238.

Through the first seven months

State Map Available

A map of New Jersey, the first official one since 1946, has been issued in a new, compact, five-section form.

The map, which charts highway routes, towns and cities and points of interest, is bound as a book, measuring when closed only 5½x8½ inches. The front page is a full-length map of state highway routes which also marks out the five map-divisions, which follow in order from north to south.

Information about tolls and access to the New Jersey Turnpike and Garden State Parkway is given in the map, which also contains pictures of historical sites in the state. Copies of the map are available, without charge from "State Road Map, P.O. Box 756, Newark, N. J."

of the year, 107 permits had been issued at Borough Hall with a total valuation of $1,087,000. During the corresponding period a year ago, 101 permits were worth $619,000.

Film to Be Completed Here. Several scenes for a motion picture scheduled for national television release will be taken next week in the Princeton area. The film, a 30-minute subject titled "The Other City," is being made for the American Cancer Society and will seek to show the American people why 75,000 of them die from cancer each year needlessly. Principal location for the picture is Racine, Wisconsin, a city of that exact size. The film develops the theme that an entire American community is, in effect, bereft of its population each year because 75,000 men and women do not take normal precautions to prevent cancer.

The footage to be shot in Princeton will picture the destructive havoc cancer can effect in nature. Trees, lawns and other types of foliage are subject to cancerous growth which the camera can catch to illustrate its point. Such "live" photography will be an innovation in motion picture technique, since animation has normally been employed in the past.

Director of the film is John F. Becker of the Somerset Road, whose offices as an independent motion picture and television producer are in New York. The picture is being completed in 35mm color for television release in both that medium and black and white, while 16mm prints will also be made available nationally for club, school, church and industrial use.

Reservoir Hearing Friday. The legislature will start its public hearing in Trenton on its water supply bills this Friday, with expectations that opposition from some quarters will be as vigorous that the discussions will carry over into next week. Principal features to be discussed are the proposed reservoir in the Chimney Rock area of Somerset County and a $75,000,000 bond issue. Both are scheduled to be presented to the state's voters in a referendum in November, but efforts will undoubtedly be made to set interests to put off the vote.

The bond issue includes some $22,000 to expand the facilities of three North Jersey water supply systems. A new state agency to construct and run the reservoir projects has also been prepared by the legislature.

THE OLD AND THE NEW: Lenox Library, the 111-year old structure at the left is scheduled to be replaced by a $1,500,000 library already blue-printed by Princeton Theological Seminary. Despite the protests of a number of residents of the community, Lenox Hall is now scheduled for demolition, since estimates for moving it not only range upward of $150,000 but there is no guarantee that the stone-and-mortar structure of the mid-19th century could be successfully transferred to another site.

The new Spencer Memorial Library shown below received long-awaited approval at Monday night's Borough Council meeting. With a capacity of 400,000 volumes, it is expected to be of major assistance in coordinating the Seminary's extensive library facilities. No date has been announced for the start of construction but little delay is anticipated following the affirmative decision of the zoning board and the governing body. The Chimney Rock proposal was advanced after receipt of a preliminary study by engineers. Their final report is not expected until December and may result in opposition forces gaining a delay. Chimney Rock was also backed by the legislative commission on water supply, whose report was written by Dr. William M. Beane of Princeton as secretary to the commission. Considerable political juggling is expected to cloud the issue before a definite step is taken to relieve both immediate and long-range water problems in the state.

Round Valley in Hunterdon County was the first proposed site for a reservoir and will undoubtedly figure in the discussions starting Friday. It is probable that the site will be acquired now as long-range protection.

Seal Pronounced A Suicide. Eugene F. Seal, 49, proprietor of Gene Seal Flowers, 200 Nassau Street, was found hanging from the bathroom door of his home on Prospect Avenue Extension on Monday morning. He was pronounced a suicide by Dr. J.

Leonard Berry, deputy county physician.

The body, which was hanging by a belt from the door, was discovered by Daniel Lenkler, Seal's second cousin, who had stopped in for a visit. Seal, who was clothed in shorts and a sports shirt, was bothered by ill health since last May, Sgt. Lester R. Anderson of the Township, investigating officer, reported.

In a note to his parents, residents of Harrisburg, Pa., which he left in his store, Seal apologized for his act. "It had to happen," the note continued.

Seal was a member of the Lions Club and Princeton Post 76, American Legion. He is survived also by a sister, Mrs. Gene Mitchell of Flushing, L. I. The service will be held this Thursday in Millersburg, Pa., with burial in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Obituaries

The Rev. Dr. Minot C. Morgan, 78, of 47 Hawthorne Avenue, was killed in an automobile accident in Tobyhanna Creek, Pocono Lake, Pa., on August 14. A Presbyterian minister, he had lived in Princeton since his retirement in 1950.

Dr. and Mrs. Morgan, a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Henry C. Morgan, and her two children were on their way to church when they discovered that the creek, over which they had to pass, was badly swollen by the heavy rains. The four passengers got out to walk across the bridge, while Dr. Morgan drove over.

Midway across the bridge, the car skidded on the wet planks and crashed through the guard rail into 12 feet of water. The vehicle was swept a quarter mile down the creek by the raging torrent.

Born at 36 Mercer Street, the son of the late Rev. and Mrs. Minot S. Morgan, he graduated from Princeton University in 1896, and received his M.A. from Princeton and his Bachelor of Divinity degree from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1900. His first post was assistant pastor at the Fourth Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia.

Later pastorates included those with churches in Far Rockaway, Long Island, and Summit, N. J. He served as pastor of the Fort Street Church in Detroit from 1917 to 1926, and as co-pastor of the 5th Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York, from 1926 to 1936.

From 1936 until his retirement, Dr. Morgan was pastor of the Greenwich, Conn., Presbyterian Church. During his career, he also served as moderator of the New York and Detroit Presbyteries, and as a trustee of the Theological Seminary since 1911. He received honorary Doctor of Divinity degrees from Lafayette College and Southwestern University, Memphis, Tenn.

Dr. Morgan is survived by his wife, whom he married in 1911; three sons, Minot C. Morgan, Jr., General Manager of the Institute for Advanced Study; the Rev. Edward C. Morgan, Roanoke, Va.; and Henry G. Morgan, a student pastor at Larison Corners, N. J., and 12 grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 2 in Miller Chapel at the Seminary. The Rev. Dr. Peter Emmons, of Scranton, Pa.; the Rev. Dr. C. J. Bates, of Greenwich, Conn.; and the Rev. Dr. William Tucker will officiate. Interment will be private.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Virginia F. Mills wishes to extend her thanks to the many friends, neighbors and relatives for their sympathy and kindness in the recent death of her beloved husband, Lt. Col. Berkley A. Mills.

who should show more discretion in his choice of bedrooms.

Ron Harper, the veteran of Princeton stages, made a winning impression as the well-built, dull-minded young man eager for stardom, but his was the only part to which the playwright failed to give sufficient care. It's important, but hanging fire.

Behind a remarkable well-performed play, one could feel the hand of director Jose Quintero. Charles Elson, managed a three-and-a-quarter-in-one set very well considering the limitations of the Bucks stage, and in technical aspects, the package was well along towards its Broadway production.

Mr. Roberts' play undoubtedly deserves the word "provocative." He is attacking the "outside world" and false values, which ought to bring him comment and audiences. But he still needs to add to talent and pointed writing a faith in the ability of good audiences to handle mature dramatic conclusions.

MUSIC CIRCUS

"Wish You Were Here" occupies the tent at St. John Terrell's Music Circus in Lambertville through this Sunday night. Most of the lesser shows remaining on the schedule have been scrapped in favor of "big hits", so that "Guys and Dolls" moves in Tuesday for two weeks, followed by "Kismet" for three weeks to end the season.

The current production of "Wish" has all the trappings, pace and generally excellent performances, but it's hard to escape the fact that the well-known resort musical is terribly thin.

Helen Teschner Tas
CONCERT VIOLINIST

Announces the opening of a studio in Princeton for the instruction of violin and ensemble groups. Until September, address inquiries to Monterey, Mass. Thereafter, to 27 Woodland Drive.

The Harold Rome music is thoroughly routine, possibly excepting the title song, and the lyrics unexceptional. The much revised hook is trivial and sentimental, but occasionally quite funny. Plenty of girls in bathing suits and other tight apparel plus the famous on-stage swimming pool are used to hide the fact "Wish" has very little to recommend it.

Guy Raymond as the social director of the Catskills vacation camp does most of the entertaining, and among the other principals, Patricia Wilson, Harry Clark, Vivian Joyce and Richard France, all turned in fine performances.

THE PLAYHOUSE

We're No Angels (Aug. 17-20) at least in the title removes all the sanctity which a Devil's Island trio of convicts had in the original comedy, "My Three Angels," by Sam and Bella Spewack. The story of three mugs, Humphrey Bogart, Aldo Ray and Peter Ustinov, who escape from their island prison and in new locations aid a beleaguered family, staffed partially by John Bennett and Basil Rathbone, also varies considerably. With swings up into comedy and drops into boredom, this picture can only be classified as entertainment.

How To Be Very, Very Popular (Aug. 21-23) features the stale plot of a '30's musical and the trim torsos of two Hollywood blondes, Sherree North and Betty Grable. The pair are chorus girls forced to flee their night-club job after witnessing a murder, and they end up, you guessed it, hiding in a male college where appropriate shenanigans occur. Robert Cummings, as an overage student, and Charles Coburn, as the sardonic college president, fill the other starring roles.

"To Catch a Thief" (Aug. 24-30) is another Alfred Hitchcock fire-cracker starring two of Hollywood's more popular stars, Cary Grant and Grace Kelly. Grant is cast as a reformed Cat Thief who is accused of jobs he didn't pull, while Miss Kelly is a rich sophisticate moving in the "giddy whirl" of the Riviera. Grant finally gets the jewel thief caught and the jewels back, with Miss Kelly as his reward, but only after several chases through the admirably-photographed Cote D'Azur countryside.

COMMUNITY PLAYERS

The Princeton Community Players will offer one of Moliere's most famous comedies, "The Doctor in Spite of Himself", this coming week in Murray Theatre on the University Campus. The Players' second summer production opens Monday evening at 8:30 and runs through Saturday.

Tickets are $1.00 Monday through Thursday and $2 Friday and Saturday. They may be obtained at Zinder's, the University Store and evenings at the box office (tel. 3539).

Moliere makes use of many stock characters of comedy in fashioning his plot. They include a beautiful girl in distress, a money-mad father, a flirtatious nurse, a jealous husband, a desperate suitor and a woodcutter who is made to believe that he is a medical genius.

Lucinde, the young girl, played by Betty Frohling, has been unable or unwilling to talk since her father, Geronte, played by Thomas Potter, tried to force her into an unwelcome marriage. Complications arise when Sganarelle, a woodcutter and born charlatan, is called in to "cure" the young woman. Lorin Zissman will be seen as Sganarelle, "the doctor in spite of himself".

Van Nostrand Move Approach. With construction moving rapidly on its new Alexander Street building, the New York publishing house of D. Van Nostrand is readying itself for a full-scale move to Princeton.

The company will become one of the largest non-industrial firms in the community, with a staff in the neighborhood of 100 employees. All departmental offices will be moved here, with the date of occupancy planned for late September.

More than 20 of the company's executives and employees are now living in the Greater Princeton area, and others live elsewhere in New Jersey. Some persons hired in Princeton have been commuting to New York temporarily, billing vacancies or learning the tasks of Van Nostrand employees not wishing to make the move.

Housing here has not proved a major problem, according to a company spokesman. Despite crowded conditions in Princeton proper, employees have had time to find homes if needed and many will commute from other Jersey points.

The company's decision was made in order to obtain better living and working conditions and to locate the firm near intellectual surroundings appropriate to its work. The Van Nostrand move may be part of a trend, as three other publishing firms have recently moved part or all of their operations out of New York with an eye towards more congenial locations.

Van Nostrand is headed by Edward M. Crane, Princeton '38, who has been active in University affairs and served recently as graduate president of Colonial Club. Jasper Crane '04 is a member of the board and other Princeton graduates fill executive positions with the company.

Between 60 and 80 titles are published each year by Van Nostrand, of which a large part are scientific and technical works. In addition to textbooks and non-fiction trade books, the company conducts extensive foreign sales through its agencies over the world.

On the more popular side, two of Van Nostrand's current "best-sellers" are "Minerals for Atomic Energy," the uranium prospector's handbook, by Robert Nininger (in its fifth printing), and "Anyone Can Grow Roses" by Cynthia Westcott (sixth printing). Van Nostrand now operates at 250 Fourth Avenue. A small service office will be maintained in New York when the firm moves to Princeton.

"Business Grammar." A professional writer and language simplification authority, 39-year old Kermit Rolland has established at 134 Nassau Street the Princeton Area's first full-fledged public relations company, which will offer writing and consulting services to business and industry in the fields of correspondence, direct mail, reports, brochures, in-plant training programs and industrial films.

For the past six years Rolland has been associated with the New York Life Insurance Company, where he succeeded in simplifying the language of life insurance forms and contracts and in inaugurating a program concerned with raising the quality of the 1,500,000 individually dictated letters the company sends out each year from its home office and branches in the United States and Canada.

Rolland's success in making New York Life's letters more understandable, and more effective, are emphasized in the current issue of "Nation's Business" that sets forth Rolland's cardinal principles for better letter-writing:

- Use your own language.
- Write your own way.
- Don't worry too much about grammar.
- Let your own personality show in your writing.

Alumni Aid Program. Three Princeton residents who are alumni of the Kent School, Kent, Conn., are serving on the committee planning observation of the 50th Anniversary of the founding of the school during 1956.

James Thorpe, assistant dean of the Princeton Graduate College, is a member of the Board of Trustees of Kent. W. Bradford Craig, director of the university's Bureau of Student Aid and Employment, is working as co-chairman of the Kent Day committee, while Lewis B. Cuyler, of 32 Edgehill Road, will serve as chairman of the War Memorial Service.

House of Ideas. Two scientific experimenters have teamed up on the construction of a home in Rocky Hill which, at its completion, should represent the ultimate in modern planning and gadget-use.

P.A.C. Finishes First. The Princeton Athletic Club finished the regular season in first place in the Bi-County League without playing an inning in the last week of its schedule. Last Tuesday's contest with Neshaic was recorded as a 9-0 victory when the opposition failed to produce enough players and the game went into the books as a forfeit.

Friday's encounter with Jersey was rained out and since the outcome could not affect the standings, it was not re-scheduled. The final standings accordingly read this way:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Princeton A.C.	11	3	.786
Township Braves	9	5	.643
Montgomery	7	7	.500
Neshaic	3	13	.333
Hopewell	4	11	.267

Two defeats by Montgomery (each a shutout credited to pitcher Don Drake) and a loss to the Township Braves were the only setbacks suffered by manager Chick Davis' team. The P.A.C. thus won the regular season's play for the second season in a row.

Playoffs were scheduled to begin this week, with Princeton facing Montgomery Tuesday and Thursday evenings and a rubber game set for Brokaw Field Friday at 6 p.m. If necessary, The Braves and Hopewell were meeting in another elimination series, with the two winners to engage in a best-of-three series next week.

Neshaic was ruled out of the playoffs for having forfeited two games during the regular season. Another casualty of the heavy weekend rains was the contest between the P.A.C. and the Old Timers. Because of the increased activity in the Bi-County League playoffs, the P.A.C. did not feel it would be in a position to meet the Old Timers in another Saturday twilight affair.

Social Club Tops Sunbeams. A one-hitter credited to Huck McCready and some solid clutch hitting by his teammates gave the Nassau Social Club an important victory over the Sunbeams last week in the Eagles Community Softball League. The 4-0 triumph broke a first-place tie between the teams, giving undisputed possession of first place back to the Social Club.

The lone hit made by the losers was a single by Joe Fuchini. His sharp bunt back at the mound bounced off McCready's shin and the veteran hurler could not locate the ball in the infield until it was too late to make a play at first. McCready did not issue a walk and fanned two.

A single by Jack Petrone and a double by George Siekle accounted for the victors' first run in the second. Andy Cupples' homer was the big blow in the three-run fifth, all the tallies coming with two out. The Social Club collected five hits in all and did not make an error.

The Eagles, working hard for a play-off berth, topped Frazee's, 6-2. Paul Farisott picking up the win with a four-hitter and adding his own cause with a home run. Frazee's was charged with seven errors.

Playoff in Firemen's League: Princeton Engine Company No. 1 and Mercer Engine Company No. 3 were set to battle it out this week for a place in the "Firemen's World Series." The winner will meet Belle Mead in one game

Bowers Again

For the second straight year and third in the last four, the L. C. Bowers & Son entry in the Junior Baseball League won the championship. A triumph over the Nassau Old Co. in the final game of the season assured the title on the basis of a fine 10-1 record.

Matthews Construction, which defeated Mercer Floor Sanding Co. in its final game to compile an 8-3 mark, was the runner-up. The season was sponsored by the Princeton Playgrounds Committee, with B. E. Bergen serving as commissioner. An All-Star Game, with members of the three other teams facing Bowers, was scheduled for Wednesday of this week on Brokaw Field.

that will determine the champion in this softball circuit.

Both regularly-scheduled games between the two Princeton fire companies were washed out. No. 1 compiled an 11-0 record against other opponents and No. 3 was just a game off the pace with a 10-1 mark. The standings, confronted No. 3 with the need to win both games to earn a place in the championship fray.

Belle Mead won Section II for the second straight year. Bill Bergen and Roy Wyckoff were the victors' top pitchers, while Ted Drake and Dick Handler provided much of the power at the plate. Hopewell's fire company was the runner-up in this division.

The Luck of the Draw. Princeton's football team may encounter a bit of unanticipated good fortune this fall through the scheduling of games played by a number of its nine opponents. In the relatively thinly-manned Ivy League, a number of whose members rarely have 22 players of true varsity caliber, the sequence of contests often has a real effect on the outcome of a given game.

This is occasionally true even of teams which are blessed with better than average personnel. Last fall, for example, Yale's big, well-populated squad won its first six in a row, and by early November was already trying on the Big Three crown for size.

The Blue then ran smack into Army, to which it lost, 48-7, absorbing a thorough physical drubbing in the process. Neither Charlie Caldwell of Princeton nor Lloyd Jordan of Harvard would deny that this was a factor in their teams' upsets of the Elis by respective counts of 21-14 and 13-9.

Let's look for a moment at the opposition provided in 1955 for each of the nine teams the Tigers will meet. An opponent of normal strength will probably have little or no effect on the following week's contest, but this is not the case in a majority of the nine games on the Tigers' schedule:

● Rutgers: The Scarlet opens the season for both teams but this fall for the first time has the handicap of having observed the spring practice ban.

● Columbia: The undermanned Lions play Brown the week before, a team that does not figure to be especially strong but is generally big. If the dry is hot, it may

● Pennsylvania: The Quakers may have their first victory in two seasons (over Virginia Tech in their opener) by the time they meet Princeton at Franklin Field on October 8. Through the Years

When H. C. "Cobbles" Sturhahn moved the offices of The Princeton Agency from 11 to 17 Chambers Street a fortnight ago, the new location had a special meaning for him. While a member of the Yale football team for three years, Mr. Sturhahn wore the uniform number "17."

A member of the Class of 1927 at Yale, Mr. Sturhahn played guard. In 1925 and 1926, he was an all-American selection.

will play Steve Sebo's operatives.

● Colgate: A routine encounter with none-too-strong Holy Cross precedes the Red Raiders invasion of Palmer Stadium.

● Cornell: The Ithacans go to New Haven to meet Yale in the battle between the teams which tied for last year's Ivy title. While Cornell is unusually deep, particularly in the backfield, the Elis that week may give Princeton a helping hand.

● Brown: The Bruins have a so-called "breather" against little Rhode Island before they come here on October 29.

FAMILIAR NUMBERS IN THE NEWS: Dick Kazmaier (above)—whose number "42" has not been re-assigned at Princeton since he starred here from 1949-51—has been signed to broadcast a daily sports program this fall over a radio station in Virginia Beach, Va. Twice All-American, Kaz is currently an officer in the Navy serving at the Oceana Naval Air Station. George Sella (93), captain of the 1949 team on which Kazmaier played as a sophomore, is now a resident of Princeton while working as an electrical engineer in near-by Hopewell. It was a 40-yard Kazmaier-to-Sella pass that won the Dartmouth thriller of 1949 by 19-13 in the closing seconds.

● Harvard: The Crimson, given to relatively light schedules in its post-war athletic policy, meets Bucknell before taking on the Tigers in defense of its first Big Three title since 1941.

● Yale: The Elis, conceivably to their regret, have another game with Army the week before they come to Palmer Stadium. Chances are, however, that it won't shake them up as much as last year's encounter did—if any team in the East other than Navy has the manpower to battle the cadets on equal terms, it's Yale.

SPORTS IN PRINCETON

• Dartmouth: The Indians always play Cornell the week before they come to Palmer Stadium. It's a one-two punch that has cost them a good deal of woe at Hanover more often than not in the last five years.

Princeton's schedule breaks pretty well for the Tigers. In tackling their 1955 opponents in the order listed above, they will probably find their toughest problem in meeting Harvard and Yale on successive Saturdays.

For what its worth, then, Rutgers (unused to the lack of spring practice); Columbia, Penn, Cornell and Yale will all have more to cope with coming into the Princeton game than the Tigers themselves. In a season of unusually close games (last year, the margin in six of the nine contests was seven points or less), such factors can make a difference.

Short Notes. A Princetonian will be among the top amateur golfers of the nation conceded a good chance of winning the national championship when play begins on August 30. He is Bill Campbell of Huntington, Va., who captained the Princeton team in the sport as a member of the Class of 1945 and has since gained considerable fame as captain of the Walker Cup team. Under his leadership this year, the Americans defeated the British, 10-2.

As had been the case with Dave Allerdice, Tiger football star of pre-World War II years, Campbell suffered severely burned hands in attempting to extinguish a fire in his home. For a while last winter, it was feared his golfing career might be ended, but his recovery has been sufficiently complete to permit him to take another shot at the amateur crown.

Bryce Thompson, 4th of Princeton coached the U. S. Army's European entry in the All-Army tennis tournament held at Fort Meade, Md. Earlier this year, Thompson was a member of the runner-up doubles team in the Army tennis tournament in Germany.

In service since last September, he was Princeton junior champion in 1949 and paired with Dick Lanahan last summer to win the men's doubles title. He has served as a professional at two tennis clubs in New York State.

The sharp differences among codes in the various college conferences throughout the nation were clearly etched this month by a statement from the Pacific Coast Conference that its member colleges had been fined a total of $12,900 for violations of its athletic code. The offenses varied from "bothering basketball officials" to "off-campus entertainment of athletes."

The Eastern College Athletic Conference, in contrast, finds no need for fines and maintains no similar "police committee." The more tightly-knit Ivy League adopts a similar policy and goes a step further: when a Yale freshman was found to be accepting financial aid from an alumnus, it was the Eli undergraduate who was declared ineligible. In the Pacific Coast Conference, when a similar situation occurs, the college involved is merely fined.

are building the home, which will be fabricated entirely from vermiculite concrete. Mr. Young, president of Young Development Laboratories, Inc., who designed the home with his wife, claims it will be unique in this respect.

Among the other unique features of the home is the fact that it is virtually air-tight and has a combination forced circulation and floor radiant heating system. The warm air from the furnace will be forced through drafts in the floor and out through invisible vents around the baseboard. Ceiling gratings will carry off the used air for re-heating and recirculation.

The home, which at present looks like a slightly unconventional two-story house, will eventually be one-level, Mr. Young says. He plans to finish the cellar above ground, then fill in around the home with dirt dragged from the site of a proposed pond in the middle of an adjoining field.

At present the building, which its planners estimate will cost no more than another home of the same size and built of ordinary materials, is a frame of steel "T" rods and diamond mesh. All joints have been welded, with no nuts, screws, bolts or nails planned for use in the construction.

The roof, which will be manufactured of molded concrete slabs, will have a 12 1/2-foot overhang in the front of the home, protecting a terrace. The overhang will be reduced to three feet around the rest of the home to allow for maximum home protection from sunlight.

The house, which covers 2500 square feet, will have three bedrooms, living room, dining room, kitchen and two baths, as well as a built-in two-car garage completely insulated from the rest of the home. Mr. Young plans to finish the building with tinted stucco.

In the basement, the Youngs will have an incinerator for all trash, a ceramics kiln, welding bench and photography darkroom, and a walk-in food freezer with an automatic dumb-waiter to the kitchen above. The incinerator, one of the innovations in the home, will have a forced draft and a built-in drop from the kitchen for waste paper and rubbish.

A three-ton air-conditioner will be all that will be necessary to cool the large home in the summer, due to the ingenious arrangement of the air circulatory system. Cleaning will be an easy chore also, with vacuum outlets in each room hooked on a cleaning circuit which will employ three standard vacuum-cleaners attached in series.

While at the camp, the boys' program included swimming, boating, riflery, crafts work, nature study, baseball, knot tying and axe and knife handling. They were led by Gene Ritchie, assistant Scoutmaster, and junior leaders Richard Sartor and David Patterson.

"Life in the Raw"

The proud parent of a nine-year old camper in New York State recently received one of the most terse of all summer communications, a communication - from - the - Adirondacks that merits reproduction in full:

"When we got to the new tent-for the cook-out, we put down the things we had brought. Then we went for some wood. After we ate we washed the dishes and came home."

And so to bed.

YM-YW 'Plans Nearing Completion. Start of construction on Princeton's new joint YM-YWCA building is set for late fall and final plans are now being drawn for a structure to give maximum service within the limits of funds on hand.

The 600-member volunteer fund-raising organization has now raised 70% of its $750,000 goal. To date, 3,056 Princetonians have contributed and the general solicitation conducted by the teams organization has topped its $150,000 quota.

During late November a follow-up organization will contact donors who requested that they be seen again in the fall, as well as persons who could not be reached during the original drive this winter.

Sherley W. Morgan and Kenneth Kassler, Princeton architects for the building, are meeting with the building committee, headed by Gerald Nelson, to determine flexible plans which will meet top priority needs of both service and recreation organizations, and at the same time allow for additional facilities when funds become available.

The joint trustees for the new building, with Justice A. Dayton Oliphant of Cleveland Lane as chairman, is also calling on the resources of the National Building Bureau of the YMCA, which over the past 30 years has supervised the construction of Y buildings all over the world. In May, the bureau's architects had 100 buildings on the drawing board or in construction at a total value of $45 million.

Children's Society Reports. The Children's Home Society of New Jersey, a privately-financed organization in Trenton, has placed 89 children in foster homes over the past year.

The home, which was a recipient of $479 from the Princeton Community Chest, gave service to 186 Mercer County children over the past year. The home, which whole reported 399 children needing help, although 112 child-care cases were in a non-adoptive category.

After placing 89 children for adoption, the Society had a waiting list of 292 couples who wanted to adopt youngsters. There were eight placements made in Mercer County, the Society reported.

Thompson Backs Landy. Congressman Frank Thompson Jr., Mercer County Representative, has asked for further investigation of the case of Eugene Landy, the young New Jerseyite who was refused a commission in the Naval Reserve as a result of his mother's communist affiliations.

Rep. Thompson, a Democrat, questioned the procedure of the Navy in refusing the young Kings Point Merchant Marine Academy graduate his commission. Since the commencement of his class, Mr. Landy has been serving as a sailor on a merchant ship.

The statement follows:
"Several people I have seen have mentioned to me the Landy case. What happened to Eugene Landy, 21, of Bradley Beach, seems to have demonstrated again the need for overhauling our security program."

"This youth graduated second in his class at the Kings Point Merchant Marine Academy, only to be refused, on grounds which seem fantastic, the reserve commission he had earned. The Navy stated that there was no question of the young man's loyalty but that his mother had been a Communist and that he had a close association with his mother."

"It has since been shown that the mother, as a lonely widow during World War II, joined a Communist group seeking a social outlet. Before Landy entered the Merchant Marine Academy, he persuaded his mother to quit the party, which she did."

"As protests mounted, the Secretary of Navy ordered a Navy Board to investigate the case. It is to be hoped that the Board will show a little more discernment than has been demonstrated by the Navy's earlier handling of this matter."

Thermoid Controversy Boils. An election of directors, postponed three times already, is expected to settle the question of top management at the Thermoid Company, which is currently embroiled in a proxy battle and disputes over federal tax liabilities.

The Trenton manufacturer of brake linings has been led for 20 years by Fred E. Schluter of Princeton, the last three as chairman of the board. Mr. Schluter has resigned his post and a whole new slate of directors, not previously associated with the company, has been submitted to the stockholders for next Friday's vote. The only director on the list who has served previously is Willard H. Allen of Nassau Street, state Secretary of Agriculture.

A $500,000 suit has been filed against Mr. Schluter by Thermoid's former chief accountant, charging defamation of character over charges of juggling profits and inventories of the company to reflect in tax liabilities.

Pools Remain Open. The wading pools on Pine, John and Harrison Streets will remain open until September 2, although the playground program, which has been enjoyed by nearly 900 children in eight weeks, will close this Friday. Howard B. Waxwood is chairman of the Playground Committee.

Projects such as zellball, horseshoes, softball, ping-pong and handicraft instruction were available to children from 7-16. In addition, playground equipment and story-reading programs were open to the younger children. Other summer recreation projects included the Red Feather Tennis Tournaments and the Junior Baseball League.

Members of the Summer Recreation Staff included C. Edward Christian, director; Charles Davis,

Another Industrial Structure. A zoning variance which would permit a million-dollar manufacturing plant off Brunswick Pike was scheduled to be considered by the Township Committee at Wednesday's session.

The variance was recommended by the Board of Zoning Adjustment a week ago on application of Lewis C. Bowers & Sons, Inc. of Princeton, who would design and build the structure for Atlantic Products Company of Trenton, which manufactures luggage and similar products.

The proposed site is owned by Mr. and Mrs. William C. McCarthy and is located on Whitehead Road between the Brunswick Pike and the East Trenton railroad right of way.

A 200,000 square foot building is planned. The combination of offices and factory are expected to cost in excess of $1,000,000. Approximately 600 persons would be employed.

Court Puzzler. Judge Casimir E. Bugdal took an extra week to make his decision on whether a learning motorcyclist must have a licensed operator with him while he learns.

He made his decision this week and fined a Trenton man $30 for the offense. The trouble lay in the fact that the defendant said his motorcycle was too small to carry two people and couldn't haul a sidecar.

Sports Note. Richard Gaines, instructor in English at Lawrenceville School and assistant coach of tennis, again this year engineered a tennis upset at the famed Newport Invitation Tournament. He ousted rising star Sam Giamvala, just as he had Gil Shea a year ago.

Mr. Gaines, who at 29 has played with the top court performers, is graduate of Lawrenceville with the class of 1943. He played No. 2 on the Red and Black squad and went on to become No. 1 for Princeton University. In 1952 he was ranked 18th nationally.

Dr. Harwood Married. Dr. Floyd Clayton Harwood, member of the Lawrenceville school for many years and chairman of the Latin Department, was married Tuesday to Mrs. Joseph Platner Shear, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton E. Platner of Bedford, Va.

The marriage was performed by Dr. John V. Butler in the lady chapel of Trinity Church in Princeton. After a wedding trip, Dr. and Mrs. Harwood will live at 10 Orchard Circle in Princeton.
